In July, 1889, I was called to see Mr. B. Found him confined to bed, suffering from a formidable constitutional disease. The bones of his face and nose were severely attacked. A portion of them had been removed. Sloughing ulcers had in-vaded many parts of his body. His former physicians considered him incuriable and had abandoned him. I prescribed A. B. C. Alterative. THE BABY MOOSE.

In Personal Appearance She Is Certainly Not Very Proposessing. William T. Hornaday writes for Harper's Young People the following description of the only baby moose ever reared in captivity-in fact, the only one ever seen by a person capable of denetawan river, a few miles east of French river, it was to meet a live moose baby two weeks old that 'Lo, the poor Indian,' had brought down to sell. Did we buy it? Of course we did, or we would not dare to come home and tell of it; and when our fishing was all done, and the pestiferous black-flies had bitten us until they were tired, we made a large grate, but the little moose.

made a large crate, put the little moose within, and brought her back to Buffalo with us.

"At first her acquisition was viewed by certain members of the household with genuine dismay. As a baby and a pet she was so very long-legged and loose-jointed, so outlandish looking, so homely and so odd that her unreserved adoption into the family seemed impossible. But, as her champion anticipated, the other members of the family have succeeded in their efforts to live up to her standard. We named her Miss Byng, because we found her at Byng inlet, and her long legs have walked right into the affections of us all. She appreciates the efforts that have been made to appreciate her, and treats us accordingly.

"To every stranger she is a living conundrum, for outside of moose land no one has yet recognized her species without help. Because of her long ears most recognized her species."

most people pronounce her a young don-key. A few have decided, after sage consideration, that she is a cross between a donkey and a deer! The total ab-sence of a tail is explained by the sup-position that it has been enter bitter.

"So much for the personal appearance of a baby moose three months old. Her color and the quality of her hair are almost exactly similar to that of a buffalo calf of the same age, while the hump on the shoulders and the short-ness of the neck render the resemblance still more striking."

The Lauguage of Dogs.

Dogs in a native or wild state never bark; they simply whine, howl and growl; the noise which we call barking is found only among those that are domesticated. Columbus found that to be the case with the dogs he first brought to America and left at large, for on his return he tells us that they had lost their propensity to bark. Scientific men say that barking is really an effort on the part of the dog to speak.—Harper's Young People.

Origin of Visiting Cards.

It is said that we owe the invention of visiting cards to the Chinese, and that even so long ago as the Tong dynasty (618-907) visiting cards were used in China. No nation observes so strictly the ceremonies in regard to the paying of visits as the Chinese do, but the cards they use for this purpose are very dif-ferent from our dainty bits of white paper, being large enough to fold twice, and of a bright red color.

Keeping Dry.

Two Irishmen were fishing upon the banks of a river, when it began to rain. With his line in his hand one of them stepped under the arch of a neighboring bridge,
"You can't fish there," said his com-

"You won't get a bite."

"Whist, now," cried Pat, "don't you know all the fishes will flock under here to get in out of the rain?"-Harper's Young People.
